London, UK – The Kardashians have never been strangers to the spotlight, but this time, the conversation is focused squarely on Khloe Kardashian's evolving look — and a London-based doctor's expert opinion.

Dr. Jonny Betteridge, founder of JB Clinics and a known name among beauty enthusiasts for decoding celebrity cosmetic procedures, recently weighed in on Khloe's appearance following her dazzling pink look at Jeff Bezos and Lauren Sanchez's wedding. His observations sparked viral conversations online — and even prompted a candid response from Khloe herself.

Dr. Betteridge's breakdown

According to Dr. Betteridge, Khloe's transformation over the years is a combination of weight loss and multiple aesthetic interventions, both surgical and non-surgical. He suggests that Khloe may have undergone:

- Temporary brow lift to elevate the outer corners of the eyebrows.
- Upper blepharoplasty to refresh the eye area.
- Botox in the forehead to smooth wrinkles.
- Rhinoplasty for a sharper nose bridge and raised tip.
- Lip lift and lip fillers for a fuller pout.
- Chin implant to define her jawline.
- Facelift and neck lift, suggested by changes near her earlobes.

Khloe sets the record straight

Far from shying away, Khloe jumped into the online discussion. She revealed that she has lost over 80 pounds in recent years and openly listed her own cosmetic history. The reality star confirmed undergoing a nose job, laser hair removal, soft wave laser treatments, fillers, collagen, and baby threads under her chin and neck. She also admitted to indulging in advanced skincare like salmon sperm facials and peptide treatments, along with regular facials and other skin-boosting therapies.

Her honesty mirrors younger sister Kylie Jenner's recent decision to speak openly about her own cosmetic enhancements — a move that appears to be sparking a new era of transparency in the Kardashian-Jenner circle.

From Dr. Betteridge’s professional insights to Khloe’s refreshingly unfiltered confession, the exchange has set social media abuzz, once again proving the Kardashians’ unmatched ability to drive global beauty conversations.
