Twelve-year-old North West once again proved her budding status as a young fashion force during a recent outing in Rome. Walking alongside her mother, Kim Kardashian, North captured attention with a striking all-blue ensemble that perfectly matched her long, wavy blue pigtails, embodying whimsical cohesion and fearless style.

Her outfit began with a light-wash denim jacket and a matching pleated mini skirt—both in the same dreamy shade of blue that framed her hair. Footwear was statement-meets-practical: chunky high-top Isabel Marant sneakers with hidden heels, costing around $790, adorned with frilly polka-dot socks and layered over black tights for added texture and warmth.

Accessories elevated the look to luxury-level styling: she carried a sparkling silver Balenciaga purse (valued at approximately $6,850) and wore a crystal-encrusted Vivienne Westwood Orb necklace for a subtle glittery touch. Completing the ensemble were clear square-framed glasses that added youthful charm and structure.

Kim, by comparison, opted for an electric all-black look styled with her signature allure—plunging crop top, high-slit maxi skirt, black strappy heels, and a sleek Hermès Birkin bag—perfectly framing the contrast between mother and daughter while maintaining a fashionable harmony.

North’s stylistic confidence adds nuance to her evolving aesthetic—not just a celebrity child but a growing fashion innovator. Her daring choices, such as embracing vibrant color and designer accents, show keen self-awareness and an experimental creative streak.

Of course, her bold ensembles have sparked some criticism, especially when she previously wore a corset-styled top and miniskirt on another family night out. But this denim look feels markedly fresh—fun, memorable, and seasonally appropriate for a stylish summer in Rome.

North West’s denim-and-blue hair combo in Italy wasn’t just cute—it was a curated fashion statement. It revealed a striking young star confident enough to mix playful flair with luxury, capturing the world’s attention with serious style at just 12.
