Cannes 2025: Janhvi Kapoor Turns Mermaid In A Drenched White Saree By Dipetsa

If there's one star who's completely owned the Cannes 2025 red carpet, it's Janhvi Kapoor. From a modern lehenga to a bold backless gown, she's been serving one stunning look after another. But her latest appearance might just be her sexiest yet—a drenched white saree that's equal parts sensual and luxe.

? The Look: Wet, Daring & Luxe

Styled by her go-to team, Janhvi stepped out in a London-based label Dipetsa creation. Known for their “wet look” designs (previously worn by Zendaya), the saree was draped to perfection—sheer, low-waist, and clinging to her curves as though she'd just emerged from the sea.

The off-shoulder white blouse elevated the sensuality while keeping the look ethereal and in tune with Cannes' Riviera vibe.

? Jewellery That Shines Through

To complement the wet drape, Janhvi wore Chopard jewels—a striking violet choker studded with emeralds and diamonds, paired with dainty matching studs. The jewellery added glamour without overpowering the statement saree.

Of course, her signature black wristband was there too—a constant in her style, and something fans have long speculated holds a personal meaning.

? Why This Look Works

While Janhvi has often been critiqued for repeating silhouettes, her Cannes 2025 wardrobe has been nothing short of versatile. This saree is bold, experimental, and global, yet it also nods to her Bollywood roots with the drape.

The “wet look” saree is not just daring—it's a moment in Cannes fashion history, placing Janhvi firmly in the league of global red-carpet icons.
