

VMAs 2025: Top 5 Red Carpet Looks That Stole the Spotlight

Published on 08 Sep 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

The 2025 MTV Video Music Awards (VMAs) brought together the biggest names in music and entertainment for a night of glamour, glitz, and unforgettable performances. Held in New York City, the red carpet served as a platform for artists to showcase bold, trend-setting fashion, blending contemporary style with avant-garde statements. From dazzling gowns to edgy streetwear, the VMAs 2025 highlighted the intersection of music, culture, and fashion, cementing its reputation as one of the most highly anticipated events in the entertainment calendar.

1. Sabrina Carpenter in Sheer Red Valentino

Sabrina Carpenter made a bold statement in a sheer red lace gown by Valentino. The dress featured intricate floral embroidery and a dramatic feathered train, exuding both elegance and edge. Her look was completed with soft waves and a natural makeup palette, allowing the gown to take center stage.

2. Doja Cat in Harlequin Balmain

Doja Cat embraced maximalism with a harlequin-inspired mini dress from Balmain. The black and white checkered pattern was adorned with Chopard jewels, adding a touch of glamour. Her bold makeup and platinum blonde hair complemented the avant-garde ensemble, making her one of the night's most talked-about looks.

3. Ariana Grande in Fendi

Ariana Grande stunned in a custom Fendi gown that combined classic elegance with modern flair. The dress featured a structured bodice with a flowing skirt, and she accessorized with diamond jewelry. Her sleek ponytail and signature cat-eye makeup completed the sophisticated look.

4. Lady Gaga in Marc Jacobs

Lady Gaga turned heads in a dramatic ensemble by Marc Jacobs. The outfit featured voluminous sleeves and a high-low hemline, creating a theatrical silhouette. Her platinum blonde hair and bold makeup choices enhanced the avant-garde aesthetic, solidifying her status as a fashion icon.

5. Tyla in Vintage Chanel

Tyla paid homage to classic fashion with a vintage Chanel dress. The black and white tweed ensemble was accessorized with pearls and a quilted handbag, embodying timeless elegance. Her minimalistic makeup and sleek hairstyle allowed the outfit's details to shine.
