Miley Cyrus continues to make waves in the fashion world with her fearless style choices. Recently, she showcased a striking corpcore-inspired ensemble, leaving fans and fashion enthusiasts in awe.

A Nod to the '90s with Bleached Brows

In her latest photoshoot for The Cut Fall 2025 issue, Miley embraced the '90s trend of bleached eyebrows. Additionally, her platinum blonde brows, paired with voluminous Hollywood curls, added a touch of drama to her look. Consequently, this bold beauty choice sparked online conversations, with many praising her for reviving this edgy trend.

Fashion Meets Function: The Corpcore Aesthetic

Moreover, Miley's outfit combined classic corporate elements with a modern twist. She donned an oversized white shirt with dramatic collars and billowy sleeves, left unbuttoned at the center. Meanwhile, a fitted high-waist black pencil skirt complemented the shirt, exuding confidence and sophistication. Furthermore, the absence of accessories allowed the outfit to speak for itself, highlighting Miley's sartorial brilliance.

To complement her outfit, Miley opted for sculpted makeup with bronzed cheeks, nude lips, and mascara-adorned wispy lashes. Thus, the makeup accentuated her features, letting her bleached brows and voluminous curls take center stage. Overall, the cohesive look demonstrated her keen eye for detail and commitment to her fashion vision.

Comments such as "An endless picture, a timeless smile," and "This is so mother of you!" flooded her posts. In addition, one admirer suggested, "Another picture that should be in the Louvre," highlighting the artistic quality of her appearance.

Furthermore, Miley's recent fashion choices, including her appearance at the 2025 Oscars with bleached brows and a custom Alexander McQueen gown, showcase her evolving style. Indeed, her willingness to experiment with bold trends and make them her own solidifies her status as a fashion icon. Consequently, she continues to inspire both fans and fellow designers with her daring and creative wardrobe choices.
