Lili Reinhart made a striking return to New York Fashion Week after an eight-year hiatus, attending the Michael Kors Spring/Summer 2026 runway show on September 11, 2025. She joined a star-studded front row that included Olivia Wilde, Gwyneth Paltrow, and Leslie Bibb.

A Bold Fashion Statement

Reinhart wore Look 48 from Kors's Fall/Winter 2025 collection: a sleeveless gray suit featuring a plunging backless vest secured with an elastic strip and leather waist tie. She completed the ensemble with black satin pointy pumps and a gold-accented coin purse, diverging from the runway model's Western boots and leather crossbody bag .

A Fashion Week Comeback

Her appearance marked her first NYFW show since 2017. Reinhart's minimalist yet daring look aligned well with the show's fashion-forward aesthetic, highlighting emerging trends for Spring 2026
