

“Varia” Returns: Varun & Alia Reunite on Two Much

Published on 17 Sep 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

Over a decade after their Koffee With Karan debut, Varun Dhawan and Alia Bhatt reunite for a new talk show. Moreover, fans instantly recognized the same infectious chemistry that earned them the nickname “Varia” years ago. Furthermore, social media buzzed as viewers eagerly awaited their playful banter and nostalgic camaraderie on screen.

Trailer Teases Excitement

The Two Much trailer released on September 15 teases a star-studded lineup including Salman Khan and Aamir Khan. In addition, the appearance of Varun and Alia stole the spotlight, making fans particularly ecstatic worldwide. Meanwhile, playful references to Kajol and Twinkle Khanna’s superstar husbands added humor and a nostalgic touch for audiences.

Varun and Alia’s chemistry dates back to 2013 on Koffee With Karan, creating unforgettable meme moments online. For instance, Alia mistakenly called Prithviraj Chauhan the President, while Varun confidently answered “Manmohan Singh,” amusing fans endlessly.

Consequently, their return revived the beloved “Varia” dynamic, mixing innocence, humor, and charm seamlessly once again.

Fan Reactions Explode Online

Naturally, fans flooded YouTube and social media with excitement and nostalgia after watching the trailer.

For example, one comment read, “Varun and Alia together omggg...,” while another gushed, “My eyes and soul are healed.”

Additionally, many shared memes and GIFs celebrating their reunion, proving their fanbase remains loyal and enthusiastic.

For more style updates & exclusive fashion stories follow indiafashionicon.com