

Melania Trump and Kate Middleton Coordinate in Fall-Inspired Fashion

Published on 19 Sep 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

During the U.S. state visit to the UK on September 17, 2025, First Lady Melania Trump and Princess of Wales Kate Middleton showcased coordinated fall fashion at Windsor Castle. Both women embraced rich autumnal tones.

First lady in a tailored gray Dior skirt suit with a dark mauve hat, and Kate in a burgundy Emilia Wickstead coat dress paired with a matching Jane Taylor hat and Chanel handbag.

Melania Trump's Statement Ensemble

Melania Trump's ensemble featured a tailored gray skirt suit by Dior, characterized by pointed shoulders and a nipped-in waist. Consequently, he paired it with matching dark pumps and a dramatic.

Therefore the look aligned with Kate Middleton's, who wore a burgundy Emilia Wickstead coat dress. A matching hat by London-based label Jane Taylor, and a well-loved Chanel top-handle bag.

A Nod to British Designers

Throughout the visit, Melania Trump embraced British and European designers. Altogether including her arrival in a Burberry trench coat and attire by Dior, currently helmed by Northern Irish designer Jonathan Anderson. Therefore ,artorial choice reflected a diplomatic gesture, aligning with the British fashion scene during the state visit.

Upcoming Engagements

Following the formal appearance at Windsor Castle, Kate Middleton is expected to participate in a state banquet at Windsor Castle, where she is anticipated to wear more royal jewelry. Thus is also set to accompany Melania Trump on an engagement with the Scouts at Frogmore Gardens.

Afterall, coordinated fashion choices of Melania Trump and Kate Middleton during the U.S. state visit to the UK highlighted their shared appreciation for autumnal hues and statement accessories, reinforcing their roles as style icons in the international spotlight.

For more style updates & exclusive fashion stories follow indiafashionicon.com