

Zara Reopens Flagship Store at Pacific Mall, Tagore Garden

Published on 22 Sep 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

Zara has reopened its flagship store at Pacific Mall, Tagore Garden, New Delhi, unveiling an expanded retail space of over 19,300 square feet across two floors. This reopening marks a significant milestone in Zara's retail strategy, reflecting its commitment to enhancing customer experience through innovative store designs and advanced retail technology.

Store Features and Design

The newly renovated store showcases Zara's latest store concept, emphasizing a minimalist and contemporary design. The layout is optimized to provide a seamless shopping experience, with clearly defined sections for women's, men's, and kids' apparel. The use of natural materials and neutral tones creates an inviting atmosphere, aligning with Zara's global store aesthetics.

Advanced Retail Technology Integration

Incorporating advanced retail technology, the store features digital price tags, interactive displays, and an efficient stock management system. These technological enhancements aim to streamline operations and provide customers with real-time product information, improving overall shopping efficiency.

Strategic Location and Accessibility

Located in the bustling Tagore Garden area, the store is easily accessible via the Subhash Nagar Metro Station. Its strategic location within Pacific Mall positions Zara to cater to a diverse customer base, including fashion-forward individuals and families.
