As Dussehra 2025 approaches, Kushal's Fashion and Silver Jewellery ushers in the festive season with a stunning new collection that seamlessly blends timeless tradition with modern elegance. Renowned for its intricate craftsmanship, the brand's latest offering showcases antique and silver temple jewellery designed to celebrate the season of victory and renewal.

A Celebration of Heritage and Modernity

The designs draw inspiration from traditional motifs such as mor pankh (peacock feather) and temple carvings, symbolising prosperity, beauty, and spiritual awakening. At the same time, antique finishes and bold silhouettes provide a contemporary touch, ensuring the jewellery complements both traditional Dussehra attire and modern ensembles.

"Temple jewellery has always been rooted in symbolism," says Nandish Gulechha, Director of Design. "In this collection, motifs like mor pankh and floral elements convey growth, festivity, and spiritual significance, yet feel culturally relevant and wearable for today's woman."

Versatile Styling for Every Occasion

The collection's versatility allows pieces to be paired with festive saris, lehengas, and Indo-western outfits. Layered silver temple necklaces can elevate a simple kurta or dress, while antique chaandbalis, bead earrings, and gold-plated kadas make bold, statement-ready choices.

Geometric medallions and antique finishes introduce modern shapes while preserving traditional charm, creating jewellery that is both fashion-forward and culturally rooted.

Some standout pieces from the collection include:

- Necklaces with emerald-hued micro beads and traditional motifs

- Statement rings with sculptural designs
- Exquisite nakashi earrings with antique finishes
- Antique kadas with intricate nakashi work

Designed to balance sacred elegance with wearability, the collection offers malas and minimalistic mangalsutras suitable for festive layering or everyday styling, ensuring that tradition meets modern practicality.
