

Ambani Family Lights Up Garba Night in Vibrant Ethnic Ensembles

Published on 25 Sep 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

The Ambani family hosted a grand Garba celebration as part of Navratri festivities. Radhika Merchant, Isha Ambani, Shloka Mehta and others appeared in vibrant ethnic ensembles. Thus setting included Gujarat-inspired décor and a majestic Maa Durga idol. Meanwhile, joy, tradition and style merged seamlessly throughout the night. Hindustan Times

Radhika Merchant's Standout Style

Radhika wore a colourful lehenga combining shades of pink and green. Firstly blouse featured a scoop-neck design with sequins and hand embroidery. Secondly she paired it with a patchwork lehenga skirt adorned with prints, mirror details and sequins. A multicoloured leheriya dupatta completed her ensemble. Finally the blush-pink makeup and sparkling diamond jewellery added final touches of glam.

Isha Ambani's Homage to Gujarati Traditions

Isha's lehenga paid tribute to classic Gujarati prints. She embraced Gamthi motifs in blue, pink, and orange tones. Overall the outfit included golden beadwork, sequins and mirror motifs. She styled her hair in a braid, interwoven with white gajra flowers. Golden accessories enhanced her look, accentuating festive vibrancy.

Shloka Mehta's Ethnic Elegance

Shloka Mehta went for a printed lehenga blending green and pink tones. Meanwhile ensemble featured intricate embroidery, sequin work and playful tassels. Statement jhumkas and a diamond necklace completed her look. Whereas styling struck harmony between grandeur and a refined festive flair.

Style Trends & Highlights

Across the celebration, there was a strong play of colour, embroidery and traditional Gujarati influences. Leheriya prints, mirror work, tassels and sequins dominated the palettes. However, choices leaned gold with bold earrings. Hairstyles included braids accented with floral gajra. Makeup remained festive yet balanced. Thus, overall looks balanced glam with cultural respect.

For many, Navratri is a time to celebrate culture, family, and tradition. Therefore Ambani family's Garba night amplified those values through fashion. Their ensembles offer style inspiration for festive dressing across India. Also, such events underscore how mainstream fashion embraces regional craftsmanship. Through these outfits, tradition lives alongside modern expression
