

Dakota Johnson Shines in Sapphire Sheer Gucci Gown at Zurich

At the 2025 Zurich Film Festival, Dakota Johnson was honoured with the Golden Eye Award for her contributions to cinema. She made a lasting fashion statement while accepting it. Because she chose a bold sapphire blue Gucci gown, she didn't just walk the red carpet — she stole it.

The Gown

Johnson's dress blended sheer and structure. Its bodice was lace and semi-transparent, featuring long sleeves and a high neckline. Thus waist was a drop-waist silhouette, which then answered with a full, billowing tulle skirt that added volume and drama.

Styling

She wore the gown braless, emphasizing how the design and fabric did the heavy lifting. Her hair was styled in loose waves, flowing softly around her shoulders. Her makeup was kept natural: just enough to highlight her eyes, with soft touches on cheeks and lips.

Jewelry and Accessories

Jewellery choices included pieces accented with sapphire and diamonds. She wore dangling sapphire earrings and several rings that matched. The accessories complemented the gown without detracting from its boldness.

Why This Look Resonates

There are several reasons why this look stood out:

1. Trend Reinvention – Sheer and “naked dress” styles have been around, but Johnson's version—with a dramatic skirt and structured bodice—gave the trend a fresh twist.
2. Color Choice – The sapphire blue is striking, especially against event lighting and on the red carpet. After all elevates the sheer, lace elements and makes the dress more memorable.
3. Balance of Sheerness & Elegance – While the bodice is revealing, the high neck, long sleeves, and full skirt provide contrast that keeps the overall look from being too exposed. Finally balances boldness with sophistication.
