Published on 30 Sep 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

Twinkle Khanna, known for her diverse career spanning acting, writing, interior design, and entrepreneurship, continues to defy conventional timelines. In her latest Vogue India cover story, she reflects on her journey and the evolving roles she embraces.

Embracing Aging with Grace

At 51, Khanna shares her perspective on aging, emphasizing comfort and self-acceptance. She humorously imagines her future self striding into her 60s, either riding a scooter in Goa or pursuing a PhD, highlighting her ease with the passage of time.

Intellectual Curiosity and Wit

Khanna describes herself as “intensely curious and extremely bored at the same time,” a sentiment that drives her to explore new intellectual pursuits. Finally recently completed her MA in fiction writing from Goldsmiths, University of London, she plans to delve into philosophy next, showcasing her commitment to lifelong learning.

Reflecting on Her Career

Reflecting on her career, Khanna acknowledges the challenges women face with aging in the public eye. Therefore she discusses the shifting scrutiny from youth to aspects like sexuality and indulgence. Overall emphasizing the need for women to navigate these transitions with confidence and authenticity.

Future Endeavors

Khanna's journey is far from over. After all she continues to explore new intellectual pursuits and creative endeavors, her story serves as an inspiration for embracing change and pursuing passions at any stage of life.
