

Priyanka Chopra in ₹1.6 Lakh Burgundy Dress at Bvlgari Event

Published on 03 Oct 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

To begin with, Priyanka Chopra stole the spotlight at Bvlgari's Serpenti Infinito exhibition in Mumbai. Moreover, she chose a striking burgundy metallic midi dress by Australian luxury label Maticevski. In fact, the dress itself carried a hefty price tag of ₹1.6 lakh (USD 1,880). Therefore, her appearance quickly became the talk of fashion enthusiasts across platforms.

First Impressions and Striking Design

At first glance, her look impressed both fans and critics alike. Additionally, the dress featured a plunging neckline along with sculptural details that enhanced its sophistication. Consequently, the fit hugged her frame beautifully, while the ruching at the waist and hips created soft, flattering drapes. Thus, the overall silhouette looked both elegant and modern.

Metallic Shimmer Under Lights

Furthermore, the metallic finish of the dress shimmered dramatically under the event lights. As a result, her figure appeared radiant, glowing with each movement. At the same time, the deep burgundy hue contrasted brilliantly against her skin tone. Hence, the cut and drape of the gown added both drama and elegance to her appearance.

Diamond Jewellery Accents

In addition, Priyanka elevated the outfit with stunning diamond jewellery. She paired the gown with a delicate necklace, a sleek bracelet, hoop earrings, and a dazzling diamond ring. Importantly, each jewellery piece complemented the dress without overpowering it. Therefore, the entire ensemble exuded harmony and refined charm.
