Nita Ambani turned heads at the lavish Navratri dandiya celebration. Moreover, the event was held at Jio World Convention Centre on October 2. Accordingly, she embraced the festive spirit fully. Notably, she danced to the tunes of Falguni Pathak. Furthermore, her attire was a dazzling rani pink kurta set that made a statement.

The Outfit: Rani Pink Kurta Set

To begin with, Nita swapped her usual sarees for a vibrant kurta ensemble. The outfit was from designer Sangeeta Kilachand's collection. The kurta featured intricate marodi embroidery from the Kutch region. It was accentuated with golden and black sequins. The straight-line cut, detailed neckline, and black lace hem created a chic silhouette.

She paired it with matching pants that had pink and gold woven motifs. A dupatta completed the look, richly embroidered with geometric designs, floral zari, peacock motifs, and navy blue panels. Draped neatly on one side, the dupatta added glamour and festive flair.

Jewelry, Makeup & Hair Details

She accessorised the ensemble elegantly. Nita wore sterling silver earrings with kundan and emeralds, which extended toward her shoulders. A statement ring and delicate bracelet adorned her hands. She also paired the outfit with silver juttis to complete the traditional look.

Her makeup was subtle yet striking. It included shimmering eyeshadow, dramatic winged eyeliner, mascara-coated lashes, and kohled eyes. She added blush, highlighter, and a glossy pink lip. Her hair was styled in a chic braided updo, with gentle curls framing her face.

Dance Floor Moments & Energy

As the music played, Nita joined the celebration with energy and grace. She danced fervently to Falguni Pathak's popular dandiya beats. During the performance, her kurta ensemble flowed beautifully. Each movement accentuated the embroidery and the sheen of sequins.
