

Hailey Bieber Channels French Vintage at Paris Fashion Week

Published on 04 Oct 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

Hailey Bieber embraced archival elegance during Paris Fashion Week 2025. She attended the Virgil Abloh: The Codes exhibition at the Grand Palais. For the event, she wore a cream Dior jacket from the Galliano era, with a fur lapel. Also, she paired it with light-wash straight-leg jeans, vintage black Chanel bag, and silver Manolo slingbacks. Her accessories included Otra oval sunglasses, and her hair was slicked back in a bun.

Evening Glam & Saint Laurent Support

Later, Hailey showed up in full Saint Laurent at the Spring/Summer 2026 show. Her look featured an orange half-zip top and butter-yellow silk shorts. She combined those with sheer tights, chrome red heels, then later a leopard-print mini-dress and platform boots.

Clearly, she moved from archival chic into bold statement pieces as the night grew.

Styling That Speaks of Identity

Stylist Dani Michelle curated these pieces, favouring strong heritage fashion choices. By choosing Galliano-era Dior and vintage Chanel, Hailey nods to fashion history and craftsmanship. Her look strikes balance: vintage items softened by casual jeans and modern accessories.

What Makes the Vintage Approach Stand Out

Firstly, wearing vintage Dior from Galliano era means embracing bold tailoring, maximalist luxurious touches. Secondly, pairing with everyday staples like straight-leg jeans creates contrast and wearability.

Moreover, these choices feel intentional—she's not just drawing attention, but creating narrative with fashion.

Broader Context: Fashion, Memory & Homage

Her attendance at the Virgil Abloh exhibition is meaningful. Abloh was a close friend who once designed her wedding dress.

Thus this look did more than style—it served as tribute and memory.

Also, by mixing archival and contemporary, she follows a larger trend where vintage isn't just nostalgia—it's relevance.
