

Bollywood-inspired Blouse Designs for Karwa Chauth

Published on 04 Oct 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

Red stands for love, prosperity, tradition, and marital devotion in Indian culture.

Hence, many women choose red contrast sarees during Karwa Chauth for auspicious symbolism.

Therefore, fashion enthusiasts draw inspiration from Bollywood stars. A contrast saree typically has a red body paired with a different coloured border or contrast. Yet the blouse can either harmonise or jarringly clash with the saree. Thus, a well-chosen blouse can turn heads, balance colours, and lift the ensemble.

Moreover, the blouse offers scope for creative cuts, motifs, and textile play. So, women seek ideas that both honour tradition and reflect personal style.

Bollywood Blouse Inspirations

The latest styling guide highlights blouse designs inspired by Bollywood actresses. Hence looks span diverse silhouettes, necklines, sleeve lengths, and embellishments.

Kareena Kapoor Khan: Corset & Archival Glamour

Kareena revived a 17-year-old archival red silk drape by Tarun Tahiliani with vintage flair. She paired it with a fitted, heavily embroidered corset blouse in golden hues. The sleeveless corset blouse emphasised waist structure and regal elegance. Her overall look balanced archival heritage with contemporary grandeur.

Katrina Kaif: Sleek U-Neck & Minimalist Contrast

Katrina opted for a red printed saree dotted with dark blue roses. She matched it with a plain red sleeveless crop blouse featuring a U-shaped neckline. Her choice underscored simplicity, letting the saree print stand out.

Alternatively, one might also try contrasting tones like white or black for blouses.

Shraddha Kapoor: Sweetheart and Scalloped Borders

Shraddha chose a red satin saree with fine sequin embroidery and scalloped blue borders.

Her blouse included a deep sweetheart neckline in a golden printed fabric. Hence, her look felt festive yet balanced in contrast.

Kajol: Full-Sleeve Print & Bold Lip

Kajol opted for a vibrant red saree by Masaba Gupta. Her blouse was full-sleeve and richly printed, introducing contrast and detail.

She coordinated the look with a bold red lip and chunky gold earrings. This style felt festive, decorative, and well-balanced for a traditional look.
