On October 3, 2025, Kangana Ranaut made a grand return to the runway as the showstopper for designer Raabta by Rahul's bridal jewellery collection, Saltanat, in New Delhi. The event marked her first major runway appearance in recent years, showcasing her continued influence in both fashion and cinema.

A Regal Presence on the Ramp

Ranaut captivated the audience in a heavily embroidered ivory sari, paired with ornate emerald and gold jewellery. Her ensemble was complemented by traditional accessories and a flower-adorned bun, exuding a look described as "timeless royalty." The audience responded with enthusiasm, reaffirming her prominent role in India's fashion scene.

Praising PM Modi's Style

During the event, when asked who from politics could best grace the runway, Ranaut named Prime Minister Narendra Modi as her ideal candidate. She stated, "Our Prime Minister. He can definitely. ... highlighting her admiration for his sartorial Ranaut elaborated, saying, "And he's ...
