

Lakmé Fashion Week x FDCI 2025: Five Days of Fashion

Published on 08 Oct 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

Lakmé Fashion Week (LFW) in collaboration with the Fashion Design Council of India (FDCI) marked its 25th anniversary in 2025, bringing together a rich tapestry of creativity and couture. Held from March 28 to April 1, the event showcased a blend of traditional craftsmanship and contemporary design, reflecting the evolving landscape of Indian fashion.

Sustainable Fashion Takes Center Stage

Sustainability was a key theme throughout the week, with designers emphasizing eco-friendly materials and ethical practices. Initiatives like the R|Elan™ Circular Design Challenge highlighted the industry's commitment to responsible fashion, featuring collections that embraced circularity and innovation.

Emerging Designers and Student Showcases

However GenNext platform provided a stage for emerging talents, with designers like Abhichiq and Quarter presenting their unique collections. Additionally, the 'FIRST CUT' showcase by Pearl Academy students delved into themes of self-discovery and societal shifts.

Celebrity Showstoppers and Glamorous Moments

Moreover Bollywood celebrities added star power to the runway, with actors like Ananya Panday, Karisma Kapoor, and Kareena Kapoor gracing the stage as showstoppers. Thus the appearances not only elevated the glamour quotient but also underscored the symbiotic relationship between fashion and celebrity culture.

Be-Jewel Moments: A Fusion of Fashion and Beauty

Altogether 'Be-Jewel' segment showcased the seamless integration of jewelry with fashion, highlighting Lakmé's new Be-Jewel Collection. This collaboration reimaged modern maximalism, featuring radiant jewel tones and diffused shimmer that complemented the intricate designs on the runway.

International collaborations like FDCI x Moscow Fashion Week Presents Hatsibana introducing global perspectives to Indian audiences. These partnerships emphasized the global reach of Indian fashion and the importance of cross-cultural dialogue in the industry.

A Grand Finale Celebrating Fashion's Evolution

Therefore week culminated in a spectacular gala, featuring archival collections from 32 esteemed designers. Thus finale celebrated the journey of Indian fashion, honoring its rich heritage and envisioning its future trajectory.
