Emily's Style Shift: From Casual to Statement Outerwear

- During her recent Paris Fashion Week appearances, Emily Ratajkowski leaned into statement outerwear over flashier dresses and sneakers.
- Her wardrobe choices have become more polished and fashion-forward; she embraced commanding coats alongside simpler staples. The Leopard-Print Coat Moment
- One of the standout looks: a glossy leopard-print coat, worn over a black crop top and loose tailored trousers.
- The coat serves as the focal statement. It's bold, eye-catching, and topical during Fashion Week, yet Emily balances it with monochrome minimalism underneath.

Styling: Statement + Simplicity

- Underneath the coat, she opted for a black crop top and wide-leg or loose trousers that provide contrast and let the coat shine.
- Accessories and footwear are kept minimal — ballet sneakers or simple shoes, plus minimal jewellery. The idea is to anchor the outfit so the coat isn't overwhelming.

Why It Works — The Style Logic

- Balance: A bold print outer layer over quiet basics ensures the outfit catches attention without feeling overdesigned.
- Trend awareness: Animal prints, especially leopard, are hot in street style and Fashion Week scenes again. Emily's choice reflects this resurgence.
- Versatility: Statement coat looks like this move easily from day to evening, show-to-after-party. They're practical in unpredictable weather (coats are needed) yet still high-fashion.

Other Notable Outerwear Moments from Her PFW Looks

- She also wore a bold red trench coat with a sleek maxi shirtdress at the Loewe Spring/Summer 2026 show.
- Another look involved combining easy basics (shirt-dress, boots, clutch) with standout outerwear for front-row events.

Fashion Takeaway: Statement Coats Rule

Emily's Paris Fashion Week street style showcases a clear lesson: sometimes the coat is the outfit.

While many rely on layers, glitter, or loud prints across the board, the strategic approach is:

- pick one hero piece (in this case, the leopard coat),
- surround it with subtle, neutral elements, and
- let that one piece define the look.
