

Katie Holmes Stuns in Sheer, Sparkly Top at NYC's Avra Opening

Katie Holmes embraced the naked dressing trend at the opening of Avra Estiatorio 33rd in New York City, choosing a standout sparkly, sheer top to layer beneath her tailored suit.

The occasion called for something dramatic, and Holmes delivered with a top composed of shimmering beads arranged in an open-weave mesh.

Structure meets sparkle

Over this delicate layer, Holmes wore a long black blazer accented with bold buttons. She kept it unbuttoned to let the sheer top shine through.

She paired it with chocolate leather pants, cropped just above the ankles to balance proportions and texture.

Styling that balances edge & polish

Her accessories were thoughtful to maintain tension between edgy and elegant: she wore ultra-pointy kitten heels and carried a roomy tote. A gold chain pendant necklace added a touch of subtle glam.

Holmes also draped a beige cashmere sweater around her shoulders, softening the look while layering visual warmth.

Her hair was styled in a wavy blowout, and she opted for a glossy berry lip to complete her naturally glam finish.

A familiar styling move

Interestingly, Holmes has used this sheer-over-bra trick before. In 2023, she wore a similar naked-top with a yellow suit. On another occasion during New York Fashion Week, she layered a semi-sheer mock-neck top over a matching bra.
