

BTS's V Turns Heads in Paris With a Refined Celine Ensemble

Published on 11 Oct 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

BTS's V (Kim Taehyung) once again proved why he's considered one of fashion's most magnetic figures. Attending the Celine Fall/Winter 2025 show at Paris Fashion Week, the global star stepped out in a look that was both understated and arresting — a perfect reflection of his growing reputation as the king of quiet luxury.

The Look: Effortless Sophistication Meets Parisian Poise

V arrived at the Four Seasons Hotel George V before making his way to the Celine presentation, drawing immediate attention from photographers and fans gathered outside. He wore a long, tailored brown overcoat, its precise structure softened by fluid movement and subtle textural detailing.

Beneath the coat, he layered a crisp white shirt — a timeless staple elevated by sharp tailoring. However, it was his leopard-print tie that became the conversation piece of the night. The accessory added a dash of personality and playfulness to his otherwise refined palette, merging boldness with restraint.

Style Details: Minimal, Clean, and Confident

V's look leaned on contrasts: classic silhouettes paired with unexpected accents. His brown overcoat, slightly oversized, exuded quiet luxury. The white shirt maintained purity and balance, allowing the tie's print to stand out without overpowering the ensemble.

He finished the look with black trousers and polished leather shoes, grounding the outfit in traditional elegance. The overall aesthetic was a blend of timeless menswear codes and modern Korean cool — perfectly tailored to the global stage.

His hair, worn in its natural texture, and minimal makeup highlighted his features, ensuring the spotlight stayed on the outfit's refined composition.
