

Aditya Roy Kapur Cuts a Stylish Figure at Diwali Bash

At the high-glam Diwali bash thrown by Manish Malhotra, Aditya Roy Kapur made a refined entrance. He opted for an all-black ethnic ensemble, which stood out for its understated charm rather than overt flashiness. The look was enthusiastically captured on social media, with many praising his composed style.

The Look: Black, Traditional, Tailored

From the images:

- He wore a black kurta or bandhgala style top, possibly with subtle texturing or detail, rather than heavy embroidery.
- Therefore bottom part appears to lean traditional too—likely churidar, straight pants, or a coordinated ethnic lower, maintaining a cohesive monochrome aesthetic.
- His look was accessorised minimally. The focus remained on clean cuts, fit, and silhouette rather than bold ornamentation.

Style & Vibe

Aditya's grooming was neat—well-trimmed hair, a subtle beard, and overall polished presence. He carried the look with calm composure, which added to the sophistication.

In a party where many outfits were bold, sparkling, heavy with embellishments, his all-black choice stood out by virtue of restraint. It suggested a mature, confident approach to festive fashion—less about competing, more about being distinct.
