Sonali Bendre made a striking appearance at Manish Malhotra's Diwali bash 2025, stepping out in a butter yellow corset and skirt set that leaned into modern festive elegance.

In a sea of heavy lehengas and glittering sarees, her choice stood apart for its lightness, color, and confidence.

Photos from the event circulated quickly, capturing her poised walk, the outfit's silhouette, and her composed presence on the red carpet.

The Outfit: Corset + Skirt in Sunshine Tone

The corset likely introduced structure and definition to the look, cinching her waist. The skirt softened that by adding flow and movement.

While the fabric details are not explicitly confirmed, the material appeared light, possibly silk or satin blend, designed to catch ambient light subtly.

Styling, Accessories & Impressions

Sonali kept her styling elegant and intentional. Rather than going heavy on jewelry, she allowed color, cut, and poise to take center stage.

The gold clutch complemented her outfit without overwhelming it. It aligned with her modern, polished aesthetic.

Her makeup and hair were likely kept refined to let the outfit shine. Though direct details aren't confirmed, public images suggest soft glam—minimal yet radiant.
