

Alaya F's Gunmetal Masterpiece by Monisha Jaising

Alaya F opted for a look that turned heads—and for good reason. At a recent festive event, she wore a sculptural ensemble by Monisha Jaising in a gunmetal silver hue. The choice stood out amid the usual jewel-tones and shimmering saris.

Instead of the expected glitz, the outfit embraced a modern edge—blending tradition with contemporary couture in one bold statement.

The Outfit: Design, Fabric & Details

The ensemble is described as a “modern sculptural drape in a gunmetal silver hue” that fuses the fluidity of a sari with architectural tailoring.

Key details include:

- A metallic georgette fabric with laminated finish, creating a reflective, molten-metal feel.
- A draped skirt featuring side cut-outs, a subtle crinkle texture and a reflective surface.
- A structured blouse with a halter neckline and open back, bearing the same intricate ornamentation.

The look, in total, “took about 400 to 500 artisanal hours” to complete.

Styling: Minimal Accessories, Maximum Impact

Alaya's styling reinforced the outfit's futuristic yet refined energy. She accessorised with a single diamond ear cuff—a restrained but striking choice.

Her makeup leaned into the metallic theme: silver eyeshadow, glossy pink lips; hair was kept sleek and behind the shoulders to let the ensemble shine.

By keeping accessories minimal and letting the craftsmanship speak for itself, the look stayed cohesive and elevated.
