

Kareena Kapoor's Powder-Blue Lehenga Steals the Festive Spotlight

Published on 20 Oct 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

For her family Diwali celebration this year, Kareena Kapoor Khan embraced an unexpected tone of royal elegance: a powder-blue lehenga-choli set. The colour alone made waves, but the modest price point—approximately ₹70,800 online—added a twist to the show-stopper moment.

Rather than go full-glam with heavy embellishment, Kareena opted for a look that felt luxurious yet relatable — a difficult balance to strike, but one she managed with ease.

The Outfit: Colour, Fabric & Style

The set she chose featured a palash-powdered silk lehenga in a light sky-blue tone, paired with a gote-patti embroidered blouse and a cut-dana dupatta.

Details to note:

- The blouse featured traditional gote-patti work giving it a subtle shine without heavy stones.
- The dupatta was styled in a “shrug”-style on her shoulders rather than draped in the typical way—a modern take that gave the look a fluid, relaxed shape.
- Her jewellery and accessories remained coordinated with the blue-gold theme: gold jhumkas, matching blue-hued bangles and golden gota footwear.

Overall, the look felt simultaneously “royal guest at a palatial Diwali” and “fashion-savvy family gathering”.

Styling: Hair, Makeup & Accessories

Kareena's beauty and accessory choices enhanced the pastel palette rather than competing with it. She kept her hair in a neat bun adorned with a gajra (flower garland) for a hint of traditional Indian feminine charm.

Her makeup was soft: subtle kohl-rimmed eyes, light blush, and natural lips—letting the outfit remain the anchor. The gold jhumkas echoed the embroidery and gota detailing of the outfit.
