

Mira Rajput Revives 10-Year-Old Anamika Khanna Lehenga for Diwali

Published on 21 Oct 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

This Diwali, Mira Rajput Kapoor chose a look that spoke of history, style and sustainability. Instead of a new outfit, she reached for a 10-year-old lehenga by Anamika Khanna.

She captioned her Instagram post: “An Anamika Lehenga from 10 years ago that still fits is the Ace Trail win.”

Thus, she made fashion a story—not just a moment.

The Lehenga: Details & Style

The outfit is described as a rich purple-toned lehenga with floral appliqué embroidery and velvet blouse.

Key details include:

- A velvet blouse with plunging neckline, chevron detailing and floral appliqué around the neck and sleeves. The skirt featured matching floral thread embroidery and a flowy A-line silhouette.
- She draped a midnight blue chiffon dupatta like a saree pallu over her shoulder. Together, the ensemble blends vintage craftsmanship with festive appeal.

Why This Look Matters

- Sustainability: By wearing a decade-old piece, Mira shows that luxury doesn't always mean new. Good design can last.
- Legacy & Craftsmanship: Anamika Khanna is known for rich textures, draping and meticulous detail. This revival underscores the value of timeless couture.
- Personal Story: Choosing a wardrobe piece with history adds emotional weight. It's more than fashion—it's memory.
- Trend Insight: In a festive season often dominated by novelty, this look reminds us that the past can be just as stylish as the new.

A Subtle Statement for Festive Fashion

In a world of fast fashion, Mira's choice stands out for its measured elegance. She proves that re-wearing—with grace—can be as powerful as wearing something new.

This look isn't just visually striking. It's thoughtful, layered, and reflective of personal and design heritage.
