

Blake Lively's Burgundy Studded Pumps Steal the Fall Scene

Published on 27 Oct 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

On October 20, 2025, Blake Lively was spotted in New York City wearing a striking all-burgundy ensemble that epitomised autumn dressing.

At the centre of the look were a pair of maroon suede pumps from Christian Louboutin, covered with jewel-tone studs, that elevated the outfit and made a decisive style statement.

The Outfit & Styling Breakdown

She wore a leather shirtdress by Sergio Hudson, featuring structured shoulders, a pointed collar and snap details. She paired it with a matching corset-belt, and the skirt portion flared out into pleats. Harper's BAZAAR

The pumps: maroon suede, gold heels, completely studded with gems in ruby, emerald, deep blue and silver tones—adding both texture and sparkle.

Accessories included chunky mismatched rings and bold earrings. Along with a hint of orange, mixing metallics (silver and gold) to pull the look together.

Even her makeup followed the burgundy palette—keeping the styling cohesive and intentional.

Why It Works

- Colour choice: The wine/burgundy tone is perfect for fall; it's rich, deep and seasonally appropriate, yet still bold.
- Footwear as focal point: The studded pumps aren't just shoes—they're the centerpiece. Wearing such statement footwear shifts the look from "nice outfit" to "fashion moment".
- Monochrome effect with variation: While the look is essentially one colour family, variation in texture (suede, leather, quilted bag) and embellishment (studs, gems) keeps it dynamic.
- Accessorising wisely: Rather than overwhelming the look with multiple colour accents, the accessories stayed within the palette and added interest without distraction
