At a Diwali celebration in late October 2025, Avneet Kaur arrived in full festive glamour, clad in a striking ivory lehenga. Simultaneously, it was noted that the social-media influencer Orry bore his camera to capture the moment—effectively becoming her “personal photographer”. According to a news article summarising the event, the dynamic added light-hearted energy and captured behind-the-scenes fun at the gathering.

What She Wore

- Avneet’s outfit: an ivory lehenga with subtle shimmer and fine detailing. The choice of colour spoke to elegance and celebration, fitting for Diwali’s light-themed festivities.
- The “personal photographer” detail: The article framed Orry’s presence not just as a guest but in a playful supporting role—capturing Avneet’s looks and giving the event a fashion-meets-social-media vibe.

The mood: The pairing of festive fashion + a friendly photographer

Style Takeaways You Can Use

- Choose a monochrome festive palette (like ivory, cream, off-white) to stand out while staying elegant.
- Embrace one standout piece (the lehenga) and allow supporting elements (photographer’s presence, styling) to create story.
- At events, consider the narrative around your look—who photographs you, how you’re photographed, what the setting says.
- For festive wear: invest in fabric and finish (shimmer, embroidery) but keep colour light and radiant for evening events.
