Jenna Ortega Stuns in Lacy Lilac at Imagemaker Awards

Published on 27 Oct 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

At the 2025 Imagemaker Awards in Bel Air, Jenna Ortega made a luminous entrance in a lacy lilac dress from Amiri's Spring/Summer 2026 Ready-to-Wear collection. Overall look signals a grown-up evolution of her style. Finally moving beyond the youthful roles that brought her fame to a more refined, red-carpet-ready presence.

The Dress & Styling Details

- The dress features a see-through bodice which is modestly executed thanks to floral embroidery that flows across the chest and onto the skirt.
- Hence the lower half of the gown is sheer with vertical lines of sparkling purple sequins, enhancing elongation and drama. A high slit on one leg allowed her to showcase silver platform sandal heels — adding height and movement.
- For contrast and texture, she draped a fuzzy wine-colored wool shawl across her arms. The shawl added warmth, depth and a touch of cosy luxury to the ethereal gown.
- Her hair was down with a middle part, leaning into sleek and clean styling to keep the focus on the outfit.

Why the Look Works

- Colour palette: Lilac is a softer alternative to more common red-carpet tones (red, black, metallic), making her stand out without shouting.
- Balance of sheer and structure: The dress uses transparency—yet the floral embroidery provides coverage and design interest, making the look bold but tasteful.
- Unexpected layering: Therefore inclusion of the wine shawl introduces texture, colour contrast and a sense of intentional styling.; It elevates the moment from "just a gown" to a thoughtfully composed look.
