

Medha Shankar's Versatile Style Game: From Soft Ethnic Pastels to Red Statements

Published on 28 Oct 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

Medha Shankar has emerged not only as a name to watch in cinema but also as a fashion influencer in her own right. Recent coverage by fashion and lifestyle outlets highlights how she shifts effortlessly between delicate ethnic aesthetics and edgy modern silhouettes.

Her wardrobe tells a story of dual identity: the traditional and the contemporary.

Ethnic Elegance: Soft Hues & Minimal Details

On many occasions, Medha has embraced pastel tones, light embroidery and fine craftsmanship. For instance:

- She was spotted in an ivory and gold lehenga set, featuring gota and zardozi work, styled with minimal jewelry and a neat bun.
- A lilac kurta-churidar set with floral embroidery showed her preference for elegant, comfortable ethnic wear.
- These styles underline her “soft-girl” desi aesthetic — approachable, graceful and rooted in tradition.

Bold & Modern: Black Corsets & Statement Silhouettes

In contrast, Medha also steps into bold territory:

- An all-black look featuring a strapless corset top paired with black bottoms was noted as a standout modern silhouette.
- She also rocked vibrant red dresses and sarees with minimal accessories, showing that she can own drama when she wants to. These looks signal that she is comfortable moving beyond purely traditional outfits into fashion-forward zones.

Why Her Style Works

- Versatility: Her wardrobe doesn't stick to one lane — she transitions between ethnic and Western effortlessly.
- Balance: In her ethnic wear, she lets the outfit shine by keeping accessories and makeup minimal. In her modern looks, the silhouette and attitude take centre stage.

- Relatability + aspiration: The pastel ethnic looks feel accessible to many; the bold black or red looks elevate her as a fashion figure to watch.
- Consistency: Across styles, there's a consistent confidence and polish that ties her looks together.
