As the festive season approaches, Isha Ambani offered fans a sneak peek into her Diwali wardrobe preparations. A behind-the-scenes video, shared by her makeup artist Namrata Soni, shows Ambani getting ready for the celebrations. Thus wearing a radiant green silk saree and a statement ruby-and-diamond necklace that stole the spotlight.

In the video, Namrata captioned the post: “Diwali with the most beautiful Isha Ambani”.

Decoding the look

- Saree choice: Ambani chose a green silk saree, custom-designed by label Swadesh in collaboration with designer Manish Malhotra, featuring bandhani patterning and gold zor border work.
- Jewellery highlight: The necklace features a central flower-shaped diamond motif, surrounded by rubies and diamonds, with pearl embellishments. She paired it with matching earrings and a ruby-adorned bracelet.
- Glam details: Admired for her dewy makeup and flawless hairdo, Ambani's styling included a centre-parted, half-up braid, highlighted cheeks, glossy lips and winged liner—complementing the refined yet opulent look.

Why it matters

This look stands out for several reasons:

1. Festive elegance meets heirloom luxury: Overall fusion of a richly textured saree with high-jewellery signals that traditional dressing during festivals continues to blend with couture-level details.
2. Behind-the-scenes exposure: Rather than only public events, glimpsing preparations via video adds a real-life, intimate layer to celebrity styling, making it more relatable yet aspirational.
3. Statement jewellery resurgence: In an era of minimalism, the bold ruby and diamond necklace underscores that maximalist jewellery still holds sway—especially during major festivals like Diwali.
