At the promotional event for her latest film Ek Deewane Ki Deewaniyat, Sonam Bajwa turned heads with a look described by media as “a burst of sunshine and style.” Her radiant outfit and glowing presence aligned with the upbeat energy surrounding the film’s celebrations. According to a social-media caption from News18, she wore a “vibrant maxi dress, glowing skin and golden accessories” that collectively created a look of effortless glamour and modern elegance.

What She Wore: Style Breakdown

While full designer credits are not always publicised, key highlights of Sonam's look include:

- A vibrant maxi dress – likely in a warm or luminous shade that evoked the “sunshine” description.
- Golden accessories – complementing the dress and bringing a luxe accent to her styling. The mention of “golden accessories” suggests she chose jewellery or finishing pieces in gold tones to enhance the look.
- Glowing skin & polished hair/makeup – The styling aligns with the overall theme of radiance.

Why the Look Resonates

- Event-relevance: At a film event tied to a drama of passion and style, her appearance functions as both personal branding and celebration of the project.
- Colour & mood: Describing the look as “sunshine” implies the colour and mood were luminous rather than muted—an important stylistic choice for visibility and energy.
- Accessories as accent: Golden accessories reinforced the warm palette, helping her outfit stand out while remaining polished.
- Fashion identity: Sonam has been building her presence in the Bollywood style space; this look adds depth to her style narrative by aligning glamour with approachable elegance.
