in & as Audrey Hepburn

At a recent high-profile Halloween gala in Mumbai, Nita Ambani paid homage to Audrey Hepburn's unforgettable role in Breakfast at Tiffany's. She emerged in a classic black off-shoulder gown, complete with a diamond tiara and layered pearl necklace. Therefore capturing the essence of Hepburn's style while adding her own grace. Her look stands out as a reminder that some fashion moments truly transcend decades.

The Look: Elegance Reimagined

The gown featured an off-shoulder neckline combined with a backless cut — a subtle twist on Hepburn's original dress silhouette.

She wore a multi-strand pearl necklace that draped across her back, adding drama from behind.

Her hair style in a classic updo with soft bangs framing her face, channeling the iconic 1960s look. A diamond tiara added regal polish.

Make-up was understated yet refined: neutral tones, defined brows and a soft lip gave her a luminous effect without overwhelming the ensemble.

Why It Resonates Now

- With many opting for bold, over-the-top Halloween costumes, Ambani's reinterpretation of a classic film look feels both stylish and tasteful.
- The homage taps into nostalgia for old Hollywood glamour, reminding us that some fashion references remain evergreen.
- Her choice reflects confidence and an understanding of how iconic moments from cinema can be for modern events — blending heritage, luxury and memory.
