

Tiger Shroff Flaunts Abs in Barely-Buttoned White Shirt & Blazer

Published on 04 Nov 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

Bollywood heart-throb Tiger Shroff made a sharp appearance at a star-studded event on May 26, where he delivered a red-carpet-ready look that blended formal flair with bold attitude. He opted for a crisp white shirt, left unbuttoned just enough to showcase his sculpted chest and abs, paired with a cream blazer and matching formal trousers.

Details That Make the Difference

In fact, while the base outfit adhered to a tailored formal structure, the styling choices pushed it into spotlight territory. The shirt—tucked into pants but intentionally unbuttoned at the top—created a balance between elegance and edge. The blazer added polish, while his accessories—a thick silver chain, a ring and sleek sunglasses—brought personality. According to the coverage, the look was “too hot to handle”.

His grooming underscored the statement: trimmed beard, perfectly styled hair and just the right amount of shine in his look. Every detail reinforced a carefully curated image rather than a purely spontaneous outfit.

Why This Look Works

What makes this styling resonate? Firstly, he struck a smart balance between formal and bold. The blazer and trousers base kept the outfit grounded in sophistication, while the shirt’s styling and accessories added character. Secondly, the monochrome-light palette ensured cohesion and allowed the statement elements (abs, chain, blazer) to stand out without overwhelming. Lastly, in a season where many actors go full designer and maximalist, Tiger’s look stood apart for its refined minimal drama.

A Fashion Moment With Impact

For fans and fashion observers alike, Tiger’s outfit offers a lesson: Even a formal suit need not be strictly buttoned up. With intention, wardrobe tweaks—like one button undone, a bold accessory or a contrast piece—can transform a look into a memorable style moment. In this case, the message was strong: confidence, body-knowledge and styling aligned.
