Actress Titeekshaa Tawde has once again proven that elegance never goes out of style. In her recent photoshoot, the Muramba fame actress turned muse for her own clothing brand, Thread & Thumka, donning a stunning sky-blue cotton Paithani saree that celebrates both heritage and comfort.

The saree's soft hue beautifully complemented her calm persona, while its traditional motifs — colourful parrots and floral zari work — added a timeless Maharashtrian touch. The ensemble was finished with a matching sleeveless blouse, blending contemporary tailoring with classic artistry.

A Celebration of Indian Craft

Through Thread & Thumka, Titeekshaa aims to spotlight India's regional textiles and artisans. Her choice of a handwoven cotton Paithani underscores this commitment. Crafted with meticulous detail, the saree balances luxury and simplicity — ideal for festive gatherings or cultural occasions.

By modelling her own designs, Titeekshaa reinforces the idea that modern women can embrace tradition without compromising on style. Her confidence in promoting sustainable Indian weaves gives the label authenticity and warmth.

Styling That Speaks

For the shoot, the actress opted for minimal jewellery, allowing the rich weave to remain the focal point. She wore delicate earrings, light makeup, and styled her hair in soft curls. The look captures natural lighting, enhancing the saree's blue tones and zari shimmer.

Every frame reflected a narrative of cultural pride — from the way she draped the saree to her poised expressions. Fans quickly praised her photos across social media, calling her look “ethereal,” “rooted,” and “classy yet effortless.”
