

Tara Sutaria Steals the Spotlight in Gilded Black Lehenga

Published on 08 Nov 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

At a recent wedding event, Tara Sutaria opted for a striking alternative to traditional festive hues by donning a black and gold lehenga ensemble. Rather than the usual reds and pinks, her choice emphasised boldness and modern elegance, instantly turning heads.

The Look: Contrasts & Craft

Her outfit blended a rich black base with gilded embroidery and shimmering gold accents—creating a dramatic effect that balanced luxury with edge. The lehenga's detailed craftsmanship, heavily embroidered motifs and metallic finish gave it bridal-adjacent flair while firmly staying in bridesmaid territory.

Firstly, the decision to choose black at a wedding—even as a guest—was unconventional and attention-grabbing. Secondly, the gold detailing lent the outfit a celebratory feel, so it didn't look out-of-place in a wedding context. The combination allowed Tara to stand out without overshadowing the bride.

Lastly, by choosing something so fashion-forward, she reinforced her status as a style influencer: someone who plays with tradition while bringing in a fresh perspective.

Style Details & Finishing Touches

According to coverage, her accessories were sleek and minimal to let the heavy lehenga remain the focal point. Hair and makeup followed suit: understated yet polished. This balance ensured the ensemble did not become overly opulent or costume-like.
