Bollywood actress Alaya F recently delivered a style masterclass at a friend's wedding, sporting a chic sage-green drape worth ₹85,000. The outfit, designed by Shloka Khialani, blended bridal-worthy glam with bridesmaid-appropriate elegance.

What Makes the Saree Special

The ensemble features a layered skirt with a pre-draped, pre-stitched pallu, adorned with a delicate floral border. Silver glass beads intricately embellish the fabric, giving it a shimmer that catches the light beautifully.

Her blouse matched the sage-green hue, with sheer sleeves, a sweetheart neckline, and a tie-back — adding a contemporary twist to the traditional drape.

Finishing Touches: Jewelry & Beauty

Alaya elevated the look with polki jewelry, including a choker, floral earrings, and sleek rings — bringing in just the right amount of sparkle. Her makeup was soft and romantic, featuring dainty pink tones and a subtle updo with curled bangs.

Her sage-green saree isn't just fashionable — it's inspirational. The color, craftsmanship, and styling hit the sweet spot between guest and key wedding player, making it a standout look for bridesmaids who want to be stylish without stealing the spotlight.
