India's Miss Universe 2025 representative, Manika Vishwakarma, delivered one of her most unforgettable fashion moments at a pre-finale event on November 17 in Thailand. The 22-year-old beauty queen from Rajasthan walked in wearing a breathtaking sheer silver gown that immediately became the talk of the international pageant circuit.

A Gown That Captured Every Beam of Light

Manika's gown, designed by Nha? Mo??t 9192, stood out for its intricate craftsmanship and futuristic charm. Since the silhouette featured a plunging sweetheart neckline paired with long sheer sleeves, giving the ensemble an ethereal appeal. An overlaid nude mesh added a subtle illusion effect, lending the perfect balance between boldness and elegance.

Every detail on the gown was meticulously hand-embellished. Designers used hundreds of crystals, beads, and metallic embroidery, creating a reflective sheen that shimmered with every movement she made. The result was a look that appeared custom-made for the spotlight.

Bold, Elegant, and Perfectly Tailored for the Miss Universe Stage

The gown's structure added to its dramatic effect. It flowed into a mermaid-style hem, enhancing her posture and creating a sculpted silhouette. A high slit introduced a striking modern edge, making the look both daring and classy.

Fashion commentators have described the ensemble as an "elevated naked dress," a style that blends avant-garde transparency with timeless glamour. Thus its futuristic aesthetic made Manika stand out among contestants, many of whom opted for more traditional evening looks.

Beauty Look That Let the Gown Shine

Manika's makeup complements the gown's luminosity. She opted for a dewy, glowing base, enhanced with smoky, sparkly eyeshadow and voluminous lashes. A soft, glossy nude lip completed the look, maintaining a refined finish.

Her jewelry was minimal — a deliberate decision to allow the gown to remain the focal point. She paired the outfit with simple studded earrings and skipped a necklace altogether. Therefore styling choice elevated the sophistication of the entire ensemble.

A Last-Minute Decision That Paid Off

Interestingly, this show-stopping gown was not the original outfit planned for the gala dinner earlier in the day. According to sources, Manika made a last-minute switch after trying on the dress and instantly recognizing its impact.

The bold move proved worthwhile. The shimmering gown not only complemented her confidence but also strengthened her presence on the Miss Universe stage.
