Dua Lipa arrived in Lima, Peru ahead of her debut performance there on the Radical Optimism Tour. Before hitting the stage, the pop icon treated fans to a string of photos on Instagram showing off her latest look.

Her outfit — equal parts moody and glamorous — immediately caught the spotlight.

The Look: All-Black with Gold Flair

Dua opted for a sheer black blouse from Gucci, made from Georgette silk and featuring a tie-neck detail, layered over a matching black cami. She paired it with black bootcut jeans by Marques’Almeida.

To elevate the ensemble, she added striking accessories from Schiaparelli — pointed “Keyhole” pumps with gold-accented vamps, and a small Soufflé bag with hammered-metal facial-face detailing on the handle. The gold accent theme didn’t stop with shoes and bag. Dua finished the look with chunky, chain-link earrings from Martha Calvo and a thick black leather belt with a round gold buckle.

A Subtle Nod to Romance

Interestingly, the gold accessories match the tone of the golden engagement ring she wears — a possible quiet homage to her fiancé, Callum Turner. This synchrony added a soft, romantic undercurrent to the edgy look.

Street Chic Meets Concert-Ready Glam

More than just tour-wardrobe glamour, the outfit felt like street-style elevated to celebrity status. The sheer blouse, layered cami, raw-hem jeans and polished accessories made for a look that’s wearable.

For fans of minimal luxury and subtle statement-making, this is exactly the kind of outfit that blends current fashion trends with the persona of a global pop star.
