

Khushi Kapoor Defines A Pastel Wedding Guest Dream

Published on 28 Nov 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

At a recent wedding celebration, Khushi Kapoor embraced soft, romantic tones — arriving in a mint-green saree by designer Seema Gujral. The saree stood out for its ethereal charm: the sheer drape was adorned with delicate pastel thread-work and hand-stitched 3D floral motifs that brought depth and elegance to the ensemble.

Unlike heavy traditional wedding attire, this look leans into subtlety — perfect for a wedding guest who wants to look elegant without overshadowing the main event. The soft pastel tone and floral details make it especially fitting for daytime or outdoor celebrations.

Design Details & Styling Choices

The saree featured a fully embroidered blouse with an exaggerated sweetheart neckline and cap sleeves. Pearl tassels along the hems added a soft, playful movement to the outfit.

The sheer pallu — a highlight of the look. Was richly decorated with pink 3D floral appliqués and pastel thread-work, accented by scattered sequins to catch the light. A scalloped border on the saree added a whimsical finish, reinforcing its dreamy, romantic vibe.

Khushi kept accessories and styling minimal to let the outfit shine: she paired the saree with a pink gemstone and diamond jewellery set, carried a delicate beaded heart-shaped clutch by Doux Amour India, and styled her hair in a braid adorned with white baby's-breath flowers. Makeup stayed soft — nude lips, glowing skin, and long lashes.

Why It Resonates This Wedding Season

- A refreshing alternative to heavy traditional wear: With pastel hues and soft florals, the look is ideal for those who prefer understated elegance over loud glamour.
- Floral & 3D embroidery — timeless and on-trend: The 3D floral work adds texture and depth, giving a handcrafted, couture feel to the saree.
- Versatility for various functions: Whether it's a daytime puja, mehendi, cocktail, or reception — this saree's balance of grace and style makes it versatile.
- Gen-Z-friendly yet classic: The blend of modern minimalism (clean makeup, soft styling) with tradition (sari, jewellery, floral hair accessory) gives it cross-generational appeal.
