At a festive event organised by Swadesh in Mumbai on December 5, 2025, Isha Ambani donned a stunning handcrafted gold saree — a sartorial celebration of India's rich heritage in textiles and artisanal craftsmanship.

The saree featured a luxurious gold tone with subtle striped detailing and a refined finish. What made the outfit truly stand out was its sculptural high-neck blouse, intricately embroidered and crafted — blending traditional sensibilities with a modern, contemporary silhouette.

Complementing the ensemble, she wore traditional jewellery — including elegant jhumkas and a detailed hair accessory — which underscored the artisanal vibe of the look. Her hairstyle (a sleek, low bun) and refined makeup further paid tribute to timeless elegance while keeping the focus on craftsmanship.

The Swadesh event — led by Nita Ambani — was a celebration of India's living craft heritage. By choosing a handcrafted saree for the occasion, Isha Ambani used her platform to highlight the artistry and skill of Indian artisans, making traditional craft visible in contemporary fashion.

In doing so, the moment served as a reminder that modern luxury and traditional craftsmanship can coexist — and that heritage textiles continue to be relevant and powerful expressions of culture and identity.
