

Ananya Panday Redefines Festive Style in Arpita Mehta Bandhani Lehenga

Published on 17 Dec 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

Bollywood actress Ananya Panday recently offered a modern twist on traditional ethnic wear by stepping out in a bandhani lehenga from designer Arpita Mehta's collection, blending cultural heritage with contemporary style cues in her festive wardrobe.

Modern Minimalism Meets Traditional Craft

In contrast to heavily embellished festive outfits, Panday's approach spotlights "modern ease" and minimalist glamour that resonates with younger fashion-savvy audiences. The bandhani pattern—an age-old Indian tie-and-dye art form—gets a fresh interpretation in her ensemble, making it relevant for both traditional occasions and contemporary celebrations.

The look has already sparked discussion among fashion observers and brides-to-be, who note that this balance of relaxed youthfulness and ethnic elegance could inspire modern wedding and festive looks, especially for those who prefer understated sophistication over ornate detailing.

The Style Statement

While detailed styling notes from the original News18 article couldn't be accessed directly, social media glimpses and fashion posts show that Panday's bandhani lehenga likely featured elements such as mirror work and intricate thread detailing, enhancing the traditional textile with contemporary accents.

Her look reinforces a broader trend in Indian fashion where classic techniques like bandhani are being reimagined for modern wardrobes—reflecting evolving tastes that cherish both heritage craft and relaxed, wearable designs
