

Nita Ambani Revisits Old-World Grace in Ivory Silk Saree

Published on 20 Dec 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

Business leader and philanthropist Nita Ambani recently captivated fashion watchers with a stunning display of old-world elegance by gracing an event in a classic ivory silk saree accentuated with traditional jewellery — a sartorial tribute to timeless Indian style and heritage.

The Reliance Foundation Chairperson's ensemble combined the understated sophistication of an ivory silk saree — featuring a warm orange border that added a subtle pop of colour — with intricate traditional ornaments that underscored her refined aesthetic. The overall look revived the grace and poise of vintage Indian fashion, appealing to style lovers who admire classic draping and heritage jewellery.

Her choice of accessories — likely heirloom-inspired pieces that echoed the classic theme — elevated the minimalist base of the silk drape into a cultural statement that celebrates artisanal craftsmanship. Combined with soft makeup and an elegant hairstyle, Ambani's appearance made a strong case for timeless elegance over fleeting trends, resonating with fashion devotees and cultural connoisseurs alike.

This look marks yet another moment in which Nita Ambani blends contemporary visibility with deep respect for India's sartorial heritage, reaffirming her role not just as a business leader but as a style icon who champions traditional aesthetics on prestigious platforms.
