

Indian Designers Dominated Global Fashion Weeks in 2025

Published on 23 Dec 2025 | By IFI Correspondent

India's fashion talent took centre stage on the world's most prestigious fashion platforms in 2025, as a cadre of designers with roots in Indian aesthetics garnered international acclaim at key fashion weeks across Paris, Milan, London and beyond. Their work not only highlighted the richness of Indian artisanship but also demonstrated how cultural heritage and contemporary innovation can coexist on a global stage.

From haute couture to avant-garde silhouettes and sustainable slow fashion, these creators made 2025 a remarkable year for Indian design on the international circuit.

Manish Malhotra:

Veteran designer Manish Malhotra became one of the most visible Indian names in international fashion in 2025. Known for his opulent craftsmanship and glamorous silhouettes, Malhotra successfully translated his Bollywood-inspired aesthetic to global audiences — showcasing collections that fused Indian ornamentation with modern runway sensibilities.

Rahul Mishra: Sustainable Luxury on the Paris Stage

Rahul Mishra continued to be a trailblazer in responsible luxury, presenting intricately crafted collections at high-calibre venues such as Paris Haute Couture Week. His work — deeply rooted in hand embroidery and eco-conscious processes — positioned him as a standout voice for slow fashion with international influence.

Anamika Khanna:

Design icon Anamika Khanna upheld her reputation as a global pioneer by bringing her distinctive fusion of traditional Indian textiles and contemporary design to major international runways. Her signature drapes — including innovative reinterpretations of the dhoti-sari — resonated with global audiences craving culture-infused fashion perspectives.

Gaurav Gupta:

Renowned for his dramatic, sculptural creations, Gaurav Gupta made waves on the international stage with collections that pushed aesthetic boundaries. His work blends traditional Indian craftsmanship with futuristic silhouettes, earning admiration for its artistic boldness.

Falguni Shane Peacock:

The coveted design duo Falguni Shane Peacock sustained their global status with striking, unapologetically bold collections. Known for elaborate embellishments and edgy glamour, their pieces continued to command attention from celebrities and international fashion audiences alike.

Tarun Tahiliani:

Tarun Tahiliani rounded out the pantheon of Indian designers making an impact abroad with elegant couture that marries classic Indian craftsmanship and architectural silhouette work. His refined aesthetic appealed to international sensibilities while staying true to Indian sartorial depth.
