Nora Fatehi captivated fashion watchers when she appeared in a statement ensemble by British designer David Koma, known for his architectural silhouettes and bold, body-conscious designs. The outfit — featuring a strapless textured maroon top and matching mini skirt — was styled to project confidence, energy and pop-star appeal.

Styled by fashion expert Shaleena Nathani, Fatehi's look elevated her presence, combining structured tailoring with a colour that stood out on stage and in photos, reinforcing her flair for dramatic dressing.

Channeling Global Pop-Star Vibes

The styling choice was more than just aesthetic — it underscored Fatehi's growing identity as a global entertainment figure. The outfit's sharp lines, sculpted form and bold hue reflected a fusion of runway fashion with performance-ready energy, well suited for the dynamic persona she's cultivated.

Rather than relying on overly ornate accessories, the focus remained on the clean lines and confident structure of the look — a hallmark of David Koma's design ethos. Together with her striking footwear and poised silhouette, the outfit communicated a blend of fashion-forward thinking and stage presence.

Making a Statement Beyond Style

Fatehi's fashion choice aligns with her broader career momentum — she's increasingly visible on international platforms and extending her influence beyond Indian entertainment. Whether through dance, music releases, or bold fashion moments, she continues to build a global profile.
