Actress Diana Penty has once again captured attention with a fashion-forward look that blends traditional Indian craftsmanship with contemporary styling. The star recently shared a series of stunning photos featuring herself in a sindoori red Banarasi silk saree — a luxurious ensemble that’s sparking style conversation across fashion communities.

A Regal Banarasi Statement

Diana’s standout piece was a rich red Banarasi silk saree from designer Mahima Mahajan’s “Yamini” collection, valued at approximately ₹95,000. The classic drape showcased fine gold buti (motif) work scattered across the fabric, combined with an elegantly crafted border — hallmarks of traditional weaving excellence that highlight India’s rich sartorial heritage.

Pairing this magnificent saree with a matching sleeveless blouse allowed the vibrant hue and intricate gold detailing to stay in focus, creating a look that was both elegant and commanding.

Accessory Details

Completing her outfit, Diana chose sparkling diamond jewellery — a choker necklace paired with matching earrings and a bold bracelet — adding just the right amount of glamour without overshadowing the craftsmanship of the Banarasi silk. She also carried a stylish Hasli bag by Ozel, reported to be priced around ₹12,900, contributing a modern accessory twist to the traditional attire.

Her beauty styling leaned into soft sophistication, with glowing skin, sculpted features and nude lips, while her hair was worn in side-parted curls, striking a balance between classic elegance and contemporary grace.
