Bollywood star Hrithik Roshan has been serving a master class in ethnic fashion, transforming traditional menswear into modern style statements that fans and fashion enthusiasts are taking notes from. This sartorial streak was especially visible during his appearances at his cousin Eshaan Roshan's wedding celebrations, where the actor delivered one standout look after another.

Salmon Pink Mandarin-Collar Kurta: Stylish Yet Subtle

For one of the wedding functions, Hrithik embraced his cultural roots with a salmon-pink mandarin-collar kurta from Tisa Studio. The satin-silk piece featured a relaxed asymmetrical hem and delicate button detailing, giving the classic silhouette a refined, contemporary twist. He paired it with white dhoti pants, adding a fresh contrast to the pastel tones while keeping the outfit grounded in traditional aesthetics.

Sophistication in Grey: Custom Creation by Shantanu & Nikhil

On the wedding day itself, the actor opted for a grey-toned traditional ensemble that exuded sophistication. Designed by Shantanu & Nikhil, the kurta sported structured drapes and pleats that added visual depth. A floral-embroidered waistcoat layered over the kurta introduced pastel accents and intricate threadwork — perfect for festive occasions where elegance meets celebration. Loose ivory trousers completed the look, making it both regal and fashion-forward.

All-Black Ethnic Fusion: Edgy Yet Elegant

Hrithik's ethnic fashion range extended beyond pastel and neutral shades. On another pre-wedding occasion, he was spotted in a charcoal black layered outfit crafted by Anamika Khanna, blending traditional and contemporary elements. The full-sleeved long coat with padded shoulders carried a bold silhouette, while the sleeveless vest beneath — embellished with a bronze mandala motif — introduced a touch of artful drama. Matching trousers rounded off the refined look, proving that black isn't just for Western wear.

Navy-Blue Sadri Set: A Regal Take on Ethnic Wear

In yet another memorable outfit, Hrithik dazzled in a navy-blue sadri set layered with exquisite chikankari details. Designed by Anjul Bhandari, the printed kurta and short jacket combination blended heritage craftsmanship with contemporary style sensibilities. Paired with voluminous traditional pants, this look balanced vintage elegance and modern flair — further cementing Hrithik's reputation as a trendsetter who can reinterpret classic styles for today's wardrobe.
