

Kajol's Silk Kurta Set Puts Marodi Embroidery in the Spotlight

Published on 15 Jan 2026 | By IFI Correspondent

Bollywood veteran Kajol recently drew fashion attention with a beautifully crafted silk kurta set that places traditional Marodi embroidery at the heart of its design — merging timeless craftsmanship with contemporary elegance. The look, featured by Vogue India, highlights how classic textile techniques remain relevant in modern celebrity styling.

Styled by fashion curator Radhika Mehra, the ensemble embodies understated sophistication, proving that artisanal embroidery can be both a focal point and versatile enough for today's fashion narratives.

Marodi Embroidery Takes Centre Stage

The standout feature of Kajol's outfit is the Marodi floral embroidery that garnishes the neckline and sleeves of the silk kurta. This intricate threadwork — rich in heritage motifs — establishes visual focus while showcasing fine craftsmanship that elevates the overall silhouette.

A drop paan motif, anchored at the neckline, adds cultural symbolism and ornamental depth, turning a minimalist base into a piece with artisanal allure.

Silk Comfort With Elegant Embellishment

Crafted in fine silk, the kurta features a straight, relaxed silhouette that pairs effortlessly with matching wide-legged silk pants adorned with coordinating embroidery along the hem. This continuity of detail creates cohesion while placing the craft where it matters most — at the edges and focal points of the outfit.

The use of silk — a textile long valued in Indian fashion — adds fluidity and a subtle sheen to the look, bringing both comfort and celebratory appeal to traditional wear.

Styling Complements the Craft

Kajol's accessories and beauty choices echoed the subtlety of her outfit. Gold earrings and neutral-toned mule heels were chosen to support the embroidery's warmth without overpowering it, while natural textured hair and fresh makeup kept the focus on the ensemble's craftsmanship.
