Bollywood actor Tamannaah Bhatia has taken her entrepreneurial journey a step further — unveiling her much-anticipated fine jewellery store in the upscale Juhu area of Mumbai. The grand launch combined star-studded glamour with relaxed fashion sensibilities, reflecting both her personal style and the modern identity of her brand.

The event saw a mix of celebrities from the film industry, with several well-known faces attending to congratulate Tamannaah on her new venture. The launch underscored the growing trend of Indian film stars expanding beyond cinema into lifestyle and retail businesses.

For the special occasion, Tamannaah opted for a striking yet effortless outfit — pairing a white off-shoulder corset top with comfortable baggy jeans, creating a “cool-girl” ensemble that balanced casual ease with contemporary edge. Her choice of denim and corset reflected a youthful, urban aesthetic, letting the jewellery pieces she was promoting take centre stage.

The actor's look was rounded out with pointed silver heels and delicate diamond pieces, some of which were highlights from her own jewellery collection, subtly showcasing the brand's design philosophy — elegant yet wearable.

Tamannaah's move into the fine jewellery space is part of a broader shift among celebrities embracing entrepreneurship, leveraging their public profiles to build lifestyle brands that connect directly with fans and fashion-conscious consumers.
